The papers accepted for PoEM 2018 will be published in the Springer LNBIP series. Authors can submit original papers complying with the LNBIP template via the EasyChair (<https://easychair.org/conferences/?conf=poem2018>) submission page in the following categories:

- Research papers - describe original research contributions to the area of EM (max. 15 pages).
- Practitioner/Experience papers - present problems, challenges or experiences related to any aspect of EM encountered in practice (max. 15 pages).
- Short papers - can be used to present work in progress and emerging EM challenges (max. 10 pages).

Authors should indicate their intention to submit a paper by submitting an abstract one week before the paper submission deadline. Abstracts and papers shall be submitted via EasyChair. Authors of selected best papers shall be invited to submit extended versions of their papers to a special issue of the BISE journal (<http://www.bise-journal.com>), with an open call for papers published after PoEM 2018.

DOCTORAL CONSORTIUM

A doctoral consortium will be organized on the first day of the conference where PhD students in the area are given the opportunity to get feedback from senior researchers. The call for papers is available at poem2018.omilab.org.

WORKSHOPS & TUTORIALS

The PoEM 2018 conference shall be supplemented with workshops and tutorials that allow discussion and/or practical experience w.r.t. all aspects of enterprise modelling. The call for workshops and tutorials is available at poem2018.omilab.org.
